FORESTRY WORK WILL BE PUSHED

SIX COUNTIES IN FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT TO RECEIVE SUBSTANTIAL BENEFIT.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Congressman Homer C. Parker today announced that approval had been secured for four reforestation camps within the first district. These projects are part of the national reforestation program of President Roosevelt.

Camps have been approved for Liberty and Long counties, Burke county, Bulloch and Screven counties and Treutlen county. The congressman stated that he has been given reasonable assurance that reforestation work in these counties will begin within the next several weeks.

The camp for Liberty and Long counties has been approved for some time and it is now indicated that it will be established first. The pine timber in these two counties is said to be among the best in the south and efforts will be made through this reforestation work to eliminate fire hazards and eradicate insects and other harmful enemies of the forest. About two hundred men will be employed in each reforestation camp and they will devote themselves to diminishing fire risks and make insect and other parasitic growths will be eradicated insofar as possible and the timber land will be generally improved.

No road building is contemplated in any large measure in this work and new trees cannot be planted because the work is to be done on private lands and the trees will not reach maturity would accrue to individuals. Congressman Parker pointed out that private profit was being guarded against in spending the public's money on reforestation.

FERTILIZER GIVES CROP PROTECTION

To the average man fertilizer is just something he has to have to make his crops grow, but according to the authorities there is more to it than that. Based on observations made extensively throughout the south, plants liberally and properly fertilized are much better able to withstand the attacks of disease and insect pests.

Blue mold, for example, took heavy toll of tobacco plant beds last year and again this year, but it seems that a little soda will help materially to control the damage. Prof. E. Y. Floyd, North Carolina tobacco specialist, recommends two or three pounds per hundred square feet in order to promote healthy, sturdy growth, thus enabling the plants to throw off the attack of the mold organisms. Cotton farmers have long known how Chilean soda helps to combat the ravages of the boll weevil by making rapid, strong-growing young plants that set their crop before the weevil is ready for it. In this respect, too, the natural soda has saved the south many millions of dollars.

Healthier growth, increased yield, better quality—farmers have learned to expect all these from Chilean nitrate, but few probably have understood clearly why soda does this. It has, however, been proved so effective on their cotton crop. To what extent the vital rare elements found in soda are responsible for these mysteries of nature's providence, has not been fully determined. Perhaps it never will be, but science in all its long list of amazing accomplishments, has rarely rivalled the miracle performed ages ago in nature's laboratory on Chile's sun-baked mountain desert.

About one-third of the world's bananas come from the island of Jamaica.

For quick starting in cold weather, an electrical heating unit on a running aircraft engine oil has been invented.

The Farmers' Five Acres Will Win A farmer who has a home garden, an orchard, a cow, a sow, a hen and a field of feedstuff is like the poker player with five aces—he can't lose. Succession plantings of corn and beans will keep a continuous supply, good varieties being Stowell's Evergreen, Country Gentleman and Golden Bantam corn; Bountiful and Stringless Green Pod bunch beans, and Kentucky Wonder and McCaslan pole beans.

Transplanting of sweet potatoes, pepper, eggplant and tomatoes is still in order. Seed for fall crops of tomatoes and of cabbage and collards may be planted any time now through June. New Stone, Greter Baltimore and Marglobe (wilt-resistant) tomatoes are suggested; Succession and Late Flat Dutch cabbage, and Georgia and Georgia Southern collards.

By mulching tomato plants with straw, leaves or litter moisture will be conserved, resulting in a longer fruiting season.

Farm Mortgage Act Lightens Debt Burden

Perhaps when the terms and conditions of the emergency farm mortgage act are better known there will be more interest among farmers of the cotton states in this section of the much discussed farm act. The mortgage act is aimed at lightening the mortgage debt burden of American farmers.

The act is made up almost entirely of amendments to the existing federal farm loan act. It is provided that after 60 days from the date of approval of the act, the interest rate on all the 400,000 farm mortgages held by the federal land banks will be lowered to 4½ per cent. This will average about one per cent under present rates and will mean a direct saving of about eleven million dollars in interest per year. It is also provided that all payments on the principal may be deferred for a period of five years where the new terms are otherwise met. Even the interest payments may be postponed if they cannot be met. The holders of federal land bank bonds are protected from loss through appropriations by the government to the Federal Land Banks.

The explanation of indirect benefits from this new farm mortgage legislation is based upon the effect that it is hoped this government action will have on the general farm mortgage situation. While the Federal Land Banks hold about one billion in farm mortgages, there are outstanding about 7½ billions worth of mortgages held by life insurance companies and others. It is expected that these agencies will in some measure follow the lead of the land banks in refinancing mortgages they hold. Provision is also made by which mortgages held by them may be transferred to the Federal Land Banks. However, both parties to the mortgage must agree and the figure at which such mortgages may be transferred must not be over 60 per cent of the "normal value of the land, plus 20 per cent of the insured value of the buildings."

Group Hogs to Be Vaccinated

The present epidemic of hog cholera seems to be sweeping the county by a storm, so to speak. In order to get to as many farmers as possible, grouping together in particular communities would aid during this rush materially. We are having very little time for any other activities at the present and find it impossible to keep necessary materials on hand to take care of the demand for this work.

MELON CUTTING AT CHICAGO FAIR

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—A typical Georgia watermelon cutting and a typical barbecue, to be attended by Governor Talmadge and a party of prominent citizens, will feature Georgia week, August 21 to 26, at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Exposition officials already have set aside the August dates as Georgia week, it is announced here. Through the failure of the state legislature to make an appropriation, the Georgia exhibit is being financed by the business and professional men of the state—chambers of commerce, city and county governments and various state organizations.

Governor Talmadge has granted the Georgia Century of Progress Commission to place the mural panels permanently in the museum on the fourth floor of the state capitol after they have been used in the exhibit at Chicago. The most prominent feature of the Georgia exhibit will be the large mural paintings, 144 feet square, in handsome gold frames, bordered by dark green velvet drapes, depicting Georgia scenes.

FARM MORTGAGE ACT EXPLAINED

NEW EMERGENCY MEASURE IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE TO LANDOWNERS NEEDING HELP.

Frank H. Daniel, president of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C., made the following statement regarding the new emergency farm mortgage act:

"The emergency farm mortgage act of 1933 which recently passed congress and was approved by the president May 12th, is of great importance not only to the borrowers from the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, which operates in the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, but to the thousands of other farmers who are now in debt. To the Federal Land Bank borrowers it means that for a period of five years, beginning July 11th, the interest rate on their long-term, amortized first mortgage loans from the Federal Land Bank will be reduced to 4½ per cent. The rate of interest paid by the borrowers from this bank now varies from 5 to 6 per cent, the average being not far from 5½ per cent. This means an average reduction of one per cent a year in the rate of interest which the borrowers will have to pay this back during that period. To the borrowers from the 12 Federal Land Banks, totaling nearly 400,000, it will mean a saving in interest of approximately $11,000,000 annually or a total of $55,000,000 in the next five years.

Fully as important as the reduction in the rate of interest to old borrowers is the announcement that under this new act the Federal Land Bank will be able to make loans through national farm loan associations, during the next two years, at a rate not to exceed 4½ per cent. This low rate of interest will continue until July, 1938, and is considerably lower than that which prevails throughout this district. By reducing the rates charged by the Federal Land Banks it is anticipated, indeed expected, that rates charged by many other mortgage holders will be reduced as these banks, since their organization in 1917, have established a minimum rate in the farm mortgage field, other institutions and individuals following closely behind.

The emergency farm mortgage act also provides that borrowers from Federal Land Banks whose loans are in good standing will be required to make no payments on the principal of their loans during the same five-year period. Loans which are not made through national farm loan associations but directly by the bank will bear one-half of one per cent higher rate of interest until such time as a new association is formed in the borrower's community when the rates charged will be the same as on loans through associations at that time. All borrowers will have to purchase stock in an amount equal to $5.00 for each $100.00 loaned.

"During the next two years the Federal Land Banks have authority to issue their tax-exempt, long-term bonds in an aggregate not exceeding $2,000,000,000. These bonds may bear an interest rate not to exceed 4 per cent and this interest is to be guaranteed by the United States. To make these certificates still more attractive, congress made them eligible for 1-day loans from the Federal Reserve Bank to member banks. This gives them a greater marketability and liquidity. These bonds may be sold to the investing public to secure a loan or they may be exchanged with banks, loan companies and individuals who now hold duly recorded first farm mortgages. Also, after a period of one year they may be sold to refund outstanding issues of Federal Land Bank bonds provided funds from such new bonds are not needed to make new loans.

"The mortgages held by banks, loan companies and individuals which may be accepted in exchange for bonds must have been in existence prior to the passage of the act. The amount of the bonds so exchanged must not exceed in each individual case the unpaid principal of the mortgage on the date of purchase or exchange or 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land mortgaged and 30 per cent of the value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon, whichever is the smaller. The mortgaged farms will be appraised in the same manner as farms upon which loans are made by the Federal Land Banks through national farm loan associations. After the exchange the farmer's mortgage will be owned by the Federal Land Bank and he will be entitled to repay it over a long period of years.

"Holders of first mortgages in this district wishing to make such exchange should apply to the Federal Land Bank of Columbia. Upon receipt of proper applications, together with customary appraisal fees, the bank will give consideration to the applications for the exchange and, unless it appears inadvisable to do so, it will have the property appraised in the usual manner and will determine the maximum amount of bonds that it will be willing to give for the mortgages.

"On all loans acquired by the land banks, either through exchange for bonds or by purchase, the borrower will pay the reduced rate of interest and will have the privilege of paying only interest for the 5-year period.

"Farmers who, of course, may take the initiative in an effort to refinance existing mortgages and indebtedness in order to obtain the benefits permitted under this law. A farmer may either apply to the local national farm loan association directly or to the Federal Land Bank in case there is no local association, for a loan, and upon being advised of the amount of loan, if any, that may be obtained, he can negotiate with his creditors for the retirement of his indebtedness to them with the proceeds of this loan. Another course for the farmer would be to negotiate first with his creditors and then apply to the Federal Land Bank for the amount necessary to liquidate the amounts needed to pay off his debts.

"Quite aside and distinct from the activities of the Federal Land Banks in making loans is the aid in refinancing which will be extended by the farm loan commissioner through his agent at Columbia. The commissioner was voted by congress a total of $200,000, for this purpose. With this money he is authorized to make loans (1) to refinance either secured or unsecured indebtedness of farmers, (2) to supply working capital for farm operations, and (3) to supply funds to enable the farmer to redeem or purchase farm property lost by foreclosure or involuntary sale within the last two years. These loans will be made to refinance the farmer after his debts have been scaled down or extended in conformity with agreements reached between the creditors and the farmer.

"The amount which the commissioner may loan to any one farmer cannot exceed $5,000. The amount of the mortgage, together with all prior mortgages or other evidences of indebtedness secured by the same farm property, shall not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised value thereof. Such loans bear an interest rate of 5 per cent and may be repaid in installments over a series of years, but during the first three years payment of interest only will be required. To secure such a loan it is not necessary that a farmer be a borrower from the Federal Land Bank.

"Requests for information or applications for Federal Land Bank loans in North Georgia, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, should be addressed to the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, Columbia, S. C., which requests relating to the constitution of the loans should be addressed to Agent, Federal Loan Commissioner, care the Federal Land Bank, Columbia, S. C.

(By GEE McGEHE, Anderson, S. C.)

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

...My family jig-sawed on a 60-hour-per-week schedule until every style of jig-saw puzzle known to 10-cent stores was worked. We had everything in jig-saws from "Washington Cutting Down the Cherry Tree" to "Little Bo-Peep Has Lost Her Sheep."

...Everything went along pretty at our house until my wife commenced to patronize the jig-saw puzzle exchange and that's when the trouble started. She traded in her puzzles all most daily and gave 5 cents to boot. About every other puzzle secured at the exchange was shy 2 or 3 pieces floo-ey.

...She (meaning my wife) lost 3 pounds on one jig-saw puzzle and at least a dozen grey hairs showed up on her head. This particular puzzle was entitled: "When Knighthood was in Flower," but the piece with the knight's head and the horse's tail were never found, nor were they even missed until she had worked on the thing 4 days and 5 nights.

...I felt sorry for my folks during the jig-saw puzzle craze. When I came to lunch every day, the entire flock was sweating and straining over a puzzle. When I came back to dinner (supper, of course) they were still working hard and when I retired (went to bed, of course), I left them groaning under the mental burden of some new puzzle.

...I tried one of the fool things myself. It was "The Man With the Hoe." It took me 3 hours to get half of the framework arranged. I spent 2 hours getting the hoe separated from a little tree and then I threw the damned thing into the fire and took up radioing. But that didn't affect any of my folks. They kept on trading in jig-saws and buying new ones.

...Why, nobody at my house paid any attention to the phone or the dinner bell or the door bell or the time of day while jig-saws were being tampered with. I never got a button sewed on or a desk cleaned off or a pair of britches patched or a kind word for the 4 weeks jig-saw puzzles had my helpmate and off-springs engaged in putting the parts together.

...It is a blessing (perhaps) that jig-saws have gone the way of the yo-yo (remember them?) and the rick-track (sure) and the miniature golf. Every thing is normal at my house now. The wife is crocheting, my children are studying their lessons, the cook is cooking and the washer-woman is really washing our clothes again.

THIS SOUNDS SOMEWHAT FISHY

...Well, folks, our fish troubles are over at last. The legislature has fixed everything for us. It took them only a few days (at $10.00 each per day) to draft, re-write, read 3 times, and pass it to make it into a law.

...Our fish need not worry any more. They are as safe as 2 bucks. They are protected from one end to the other, just as they should be. In a few years from now there will be 2 fishes (3 inches long) where only 2 fishes (2 inches long) now swim to and fro.

...I am proud of this wonderful law. It has teeth in it. It says what it means and means what it says. If you don't believe this, why just ask your game warden. Here are some of the things you must not do to a fish:

1. You must not fish with 2 poles at one time.
2. You shall not fish in water over 10 inches deep.
3. You can not catch fish except on Saturday afternoon.
4. You must throw back any fish caught accidentally.
5. You may fish with a crooked pin but no bait on Thursdays.
6. You shall not jerk your hook out of the water too fast.
7. If you hurt a fish's mouth, rub it with mercuricrome.
8. Seines, hand nets, hair nets and shotguns are not permitted.
9. You must not throw rocks into the water, you might hit a fish.
10. All fish baskets and trot lines are outlawed.
11. No fishing pole must be over 6 feet and 3 inches long.
12. All hooks must be dipped into alcohol before letting a fish bite 'em.
13. No traps or hand grabbing will be permitted in the water.
14. If a fish is found walking around on dry land, the finder thereof must throw him back into the water at once under penalty.
15. No fish must be caught that is laying or setting on eggs.
16. Fishing with live hornets will not be permitted as the hornet might sting the fish.

18. Fishing at night must be done with black lines, but no fish must be caught and carried home under penalty of death.

19. Not over 5 tadpoles may be caught by a fisherman in 2 days.

20. You shall not catch a fish by the tail or fin or nose.

21. All fish under 3 years of age must be kept away from snakes.

22. You shall not let your cat eat your goldfish under penalty of the law. Fine for this is $5.00 or more.

23. Fish will not be allowed to eat other fish if possible.

24. It will be a crime to be caught eating fish eggs. Persons found with fish eggs on their person or in their stomachs shall be sent to the legislature for 4 months.

25. Fishing sets must not have sinkers or floats thereon. A fish might bump his head on one of the floats.

26. Only legislators may fish in the ocean once a year between seasons and they shall not be permitted to catch but 1 whale and 2 sea lions a day, but they might catch all the suckers (as usual) that they might desire, but no taxpayers.

MIKE APPEALS TO THE YOUNGSTERS

...The ladies aid of the hornet church have asked me to ride a peacock for yore paper on the subject of "the younger generation" in the hopes that I may fetch some of same to their senses and let them correct the error of their way.

...The world is going harem-skarem, that is, the morals seem to be pointed that way. Two girls from the county seat visited our drug store smoking a cigarette in their rumble seats. mothers, you must wake up last week wearing men's britches and quit smoking yourselves to avoid perdition ansoforth.

...The younger generation do not mind their paws and maws. Mrs. pinkie stebbins says she told her old-steebbs, now close to 17, to be sure to come back fr in a ride with sammie skinner by midnight last night and she ain't back yet. There's a audience for you. emmie, come back home to yore maw as soon as you read this, sammie won't do.

...A crowd of our young folks went off on a picknick a few sundays ago and went in a washing and swam around just like it was monday or tuesday. They should not of broke the sabbath and they also had 6 bottles of 2 pint 2 with them and the empty bottles were found close to the pond with some of their underwear which they forgot.

...Take our organist, fur-rinstance, she was a big, bright, smart girl and known her music up to last summer and now she has gone all the way of the world. She won't come to church much less play the organ, and she has been saw more times than one with a stranger and her dresses seem to get thinner and thinner, sallie may, please listen to yore maw and yore pasture. He knows right from wrong as he utter be had himself.

...Oh, my dear young folks: why don't you wear bathing suits that don't fit, you so tight? You will not only ruin yourself but the younger generation will go down with you. Why do you smoke in public? You ought to go into the house and smoke, and why do you all not join the missionary society and the bible bees? I am riting this for yore good and hope to meet you in heaven where moths do not corrupt and sin is no more.

FARMER IS HELD AS POPPY GROWER

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—Discovery of a field of opium poppies at Cobbtown, Ga., near Savannah, was made by narcotic agents, it was revealed here upon their return to Atlanta. This is the first discovery ever made in Georgia of a field designed to cultivate opium for commercial use, according to narcotic authorities.

The opium plants grown in three separate fields, were destroyed by J. B. Biggers, district supervisor of Georgia and Florida divisions, and P. A. Williams, agent in charge of the Atlanta office, who went to a scene on a "tip" that opium poppies were being grown there.

In connection with the seizure Tom Bird, 60, a farmer, was arrested and lodged in jail in Savannah. Agent Williams, dressed in overalls and representing himself to be a farmer needing the product, purchased a quantity of the finished product for $2. Bird is said to have been growing 12

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself.

The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users. We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience. We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

BUSINESS AGAIN MAKES ADVANCES

INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT AND RAISE IN WAGES NOTED IN SOME SECTIONS OF COUNTRY.

New York, May 28.—Striding forward with more confidence, business again advanced during the past week. Spurred by the administration's program for raising prices, most lines of productive and distributive activity showed improvement, and at some points manufacturers have begun to raise wage scales.

An increase in employment was reported especially in those centers devoted to the production of steel and allied products, automobiles, textiles, rubber goods, shoes and leather, lumber, and the brewing supply industry. Steel output, electric power production and retail trade were among the stellar performers during the past week in the country's favorite drama, better business.

Spurring 3 points, steel operations last week averaged 43 per cent of capacity, according to the magazine. Steel, which also noted an encouraging broadening of the entire iron and steel market foundation.

This was the ninth consecutive weekly increase in steel works operations. Substantial shipments of pig iron and steel were made for railway repair work during the week, a type of activity which heretofore has been of negligible proportions.

However, in the steel, as well as other industries, manufacturers seem reluctant to quote prices too far ahead until there is further clarification of the meaning of federal industrial control and its effect on costs.

Electric power production continued the poppies and converting them to opium powder for many years. He did this for his own consumption until recently when he began selling it to residents in that section, according to narcotic agents.

Opium is obtained from the seed capsule of the poppies in a manner almost the same as that described by Dioscorides 1,800 years ago, it is said. The opium is taken from the poppy by bleeding it.

Narcotic agents said they could not estimate the value of the opium poppies. India, it is said, is its rise for the third week. Output was 4.3 per cent ahead of the corresponding period a year ago, whereas the previous week's comparative gain was 2.2 per cent and two weeks ago only .05 per cent.

Railway loadings of revenue freight for the latest reportable week, May 20, stood at 531,618 cars, an increase of 523 cars over the previous week and 15,990 or 3.1 percent over the same period of 1932. This was the second successive week to show an increase over a year ago; in the week ended May 13, the improvement amounted to only 2.6 per cent.

Significant in the traffic statistics was the $,944 gain in loadings of miscellaneous freight over last year, an indication of the heavier volume of goods going into consumers hands. Less-than-carload freight and live-stock showed decreases under a year ago, but grain and grain products, coal, forest products, ore, and coke all registered sharp gains.

Last week's automotive output, as estimated by Cram, declined moderately from the preceding period, thus interrupting an upward trend which had continued for nine successive weeks. Output was placed at 52,000 units, a decline of 5,801 from the previous week's volume.

Weekly mercantile reviews emphasize the indication that among the large department stores and specialty shops, May turnover will probably surpass the volume of May, 1932. Many of the large stores, it is reported, have achieved the best operating basis in at least two years. Demand for seasonal wearing apparel was particularly active last week, coincident with the warmer weather and the approach of Memorial Day.

The wholesale market last week enjoyed an activity close to the best of the year, it was estimated by Dun and Bradstreet, with both unit and dollar volume exceeding the comparative totals of 1932. Based on the robust expansion of present retail demand, the increased employment, and rising wage scales, fall buying in wholesale markets, it is believed, may reach a volume comparable with that of 1930.

It is said that the Italian tax on bachelors has not tended to increase the marriage rate, as was expected. The Roxy Theatre in New York seats 6,200 persons, having the great seat capacity of any American playhouse.

A NEIGHBORLY ACT

That was a neighborly act last Saturday evening when the star Arcturus set in motion the machinery which operates the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Arcturus is said to be one of the stars which is in closest communication with our own earth. Because of its proximity it was called upon to move the machinery which set the great exposition officially in operation. A simple ray of light was the small contribution which that star was called upon unwittingly to contribute. Through the scientific perfection which have been attained during the past half century, this ray was adequate to the needs of the occasion.

You who know astrology will understand what it means to speak of Arcturus as a neighbor. Those of you who have become conversant with the plans which were adopted for the dramatic opening of the exposition will not need to be told what is here being related. Those of you have not been told, will be interested to learn that Arcturus is forty light years away from our own earth. This statement will not signify anything, unless you know that a light year merely means the distance light travels in a year moving at the rate of 186,000 miles per second. When you have figured the number of seconds in a year and multiplied that by 186,000 miles, you will know how far away Arcturus is said to be removed from our earth.

If your new Ford car could speed up just a little and make 186,000 miles a second, and if you piled your family in the back seat, and then started going ahead full speed, and your wife didn't make you stop once in forty years, you would find yourself at Arcturus, or thereabout.

Why take a light ray from Arcturus? Forty years ago Chicago sponsored the great World's Fair, the most magnificent and expensive exposition in the world's history before or since till the staging of the great Century of Progress Exposition now in progress. It seemed fitting, they said, that the ray of starlight which began its journey to the earth during that other great exposition, and which had only reached here after its forty year journey last Saturday evening, should be harnessed to officially open the exposition which was at that moment being opened.

It was a neighborly act!

RAILROADS ASKED TO PAY

The position of the railroads in relation to their competitors is vividly illustrated in an incident that recently took place in an Eastern state. Near a small town there is a highway bridge over a railroad, marked "Safe Load, 8 Tons." The bridge is entirely adequate for light trucks and buses at present.

However, a short time ago it was demanded that the bridge be altered at the railroad's expense—in order to make it safer for vehicles of greater weight. The only vehicles of this kind are the heavy trucks and buses which run in direct passenger and freight competition with the railroad. The change, if finally made, will cost the line $25,000, which must be taken out of its shrinking coffers. As a consequence, railroad investors will be paying the bill making possible competition which will deprive them of income.

This is doubtless an extreme and unusual case. But it is indicative of the fix in which the railroad industry finds itself today. It is regulated to the point where it cannot make a move without the sanction of government authority—and its competitors are operating on a comparatively free basis, are waxing fat at its expense. The result is that millions of railroad investors are in danger of losing their principal, that hundreds of thousands of wage-earners have lost all or part of their livelihood, that a multitude of industries which depended on the railroads for orders are in the doldrums. Legislation to remedy this injustice is said to be on its way—and full speed and clear tracks are in order to hasten its arrival.

PENALIZING THE THRIFTY

There are, roughly, two classes of people in society—those who have cash and those who have not.

In recent times it has come about that the class who have not are largely in the majority and naturally enough it has come about that that class is demanding and receiving the largest amount of attention. Efforts of government in recent times seemed to have been bent toward serving the needs of those who have not, while it is naturally being taxed against those who have something.

And this brings us to the thought with which this article begins—efforts of the government are being directed toward penalizing the thrifty for the benefit of those who are unwise, uncareful or unfortunate.

This recent order calculated to inflate the national currency is hailed as the salvation for those who are in debt without means to pay. Because of this inflation, money becomes less valuable, therefore easier to acquire. All this sounds pleasing enough to the man who needs to pay those debts which are pressing him, and scientifically the plan may be perfectly honest with society; yet the question comes, What right has the government to lessen the value of currency in the hands of those who have it, in order that it may inure to the benefit of those who have been shiftless and unwise to the point of neglecting their own opportunities to have acquired?

This question of inflation is by no means a one-sided matter. When currency is less valuable, then commodities are more valuable, and the matter of exchanging currency for commodities exactly equalizes. In other words, with currency deflated the man with 50 cents in the pocket is by no means as wealthy as if he had twice as much cash and flour was $1.00 per sack. The inevitable result of inflation will be to cheapen currency—to increase the price of commodities accordingly.

The only man who can benefit by this inflation is the man who owes somebody. To cheapen the money with which these debts are to be paid, merely imposes a penalty upon the man who has been thrifty enough to accumulate. His savings are being deflated fifty per cent for the relief of that other man who was less thrifty and who has never accumulated anything but debts.

However, since there are no more debts, let's have inflation!

In 1930 Ireland celebrated the 1,000th anniversary of its parliament, established in the year 930.

Walter Mason, of Chicago, had four fingers of his right hand cut off while riding his automobile from the city engine running.

Dr. Maynard Shows Value of the Pine

Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—In an address before the Passengers Club in Atlanta, Dr. Poole Maynard, consulting geologist of the A. B. & C. railroad, told of the enormous possibilities of making paper out of Georgia pine.

"One very definite thing has been determined at Savannah in the experimental plant conducted by Dr. Charles Herty, namely that the grades of newspaper can be made from Georgia pine, and newspaper constitutes about one-third of the total output of paper in these United States," stated Dr. Maynard.

"What would the development of the paper industry mean to us here in Georgia? It would mean probably more directly to the farmer than any other class. It would mean a market for his wood. In that event he would not burn his woods annually. He could see where his bread was buttered. Many acres of our cut-over lands could be used for the growing of wood crops. In South Georgia that would mean that the slash pine could be grown where the thinnings would be used for pulp wood, which would be a by-product of the paper industry. The change, if finally made, will cost the line $25,000, which must be taken out of its shrinking coffers. As a consequence, railroad investors will be paying the bill making possible competition which will deprive them of income.

This is doubtless an extreme and unusual case. But it is indicative of the fix in which the railroad industry finds itself today. It is regulated to the point where it cannot make a move without the sanction of government authority—and its competitors are operating on a comparatively free basis, are waxing fat at its expense. The result is that millions of railroad investors are in danger of losing their principal, that hundreds of thousands of wage-earners have lost all or part of their livelihood, that a multitude of industries which depended on the railroads for orders are in the doldrums. Legislation to remedy this injustice is said to be on its way—and full speed and clear tracks are in order to hasten its arrival.

"I believe that if we permit the experiments of Dr. Herty to continue, we will develop further interest in the growing of forests and the development of the paper-making industry. It will be only a matter of time when we will see paper manufacturing plants built in the state of Georgia and other points in the south that are rich in timber. The most interesting feature of the evening was the splendid talk given by Mrs. D. L. Deal. She always brings to us a worthwhile message. We are always glad to have her with us. Congratulations to Leslie Eimes on having won the bedspread."

NO EXTRA SESSION FOR STATE SOLONS

BEER AND OTHER ISSUES MUST WAIT UNTIL 1935, SAYS GOVERNOR TALMADGE.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—Governor Talmadge has made it clear that he has no intention of calling the legislature into extra session to legalize beer or for any other purpose during the remaining year and a half of his term.

The beer question, together with repeal of the eighteenth amendment and all other issues, will have to wait until the next biennial session, with a new membership, in the winter of 1935, the governor indicated in unmistakable terms.

The governor said he feared legislation tampering with his $3 auto proclamation and with the highway situation if an extra session is called. Declaring that the senate blocked "everything the governor advocated" at the last session and "every plank of the state Democratic platform," he said it was not his purpose for the legislature to meet again until there had been an election and a new senate had been chosen.

"My action on the automobile tag saved the people of Georgia there and a half million dollars," the governor declared. "I do not wish to run the risk of having the present senate fail to ratify my action on the $3 tag. I want this handled by another and a new senate after the election."

"I also expect to support this tax on motor vehicle tags next year, thereby affecting a saving for the people of $7,000,000 for the people of this state."

Referring to the beer question and the repeal movement on which the legislature failed to act, the governor said:

"There is no short cut in the settlement of this prohibition question in Georgia. Let's have it an issue in the next election."

"Let's have the representatives and senators let the people know how they stand, not only on legalizing the sale of beer but on legalizing the sale of all other intoxicants."

SOME HIGHLIGHTS IN UPWARD TREND

HAPPENINGS THAT AFFECT DINKER PAIRS, DIVIDEND CHECKS AND TAX BILLS OF NATION.

It is rather difficult to realize that the new administration came into power less than three months ago. So rapidly have events moved, and so definite and manifold have been legislative proposals to start and speed recovery, that the Roosevelt policies seem to have dominated the country longer than they really have.

A survey of what has been accomplished is interesting. It reveals:

Taxation—The economy act gave the president powers to reduce governmental costs. Steps taken have saved $400,000,000 a year in consumption and pension payments, and $100,000,000 in federal salaries. Department reorganization to save additional $600,000,000.

Prohibition—Beer has been legalized. Beer tax revenue is fully met. The president has now given impetus to the unconditional repeal movement by a declaration favoring it.

Agriculture—The new farm bill, recently passed, embraces: Provisions for reduction of acreage, taxes on wheat, corn, cotton, hogs and other basic farm products to bring prices to a parity with the general price level, and control of marketing through licenses and supervised agreements among producers, processors and distributors. Pending now is a proposal for refinancing of farm mortgages.

Tariff—The president, through the Washington conferences, has achieved a tariff truce among the major nations to last until the world economic conference has been completed, and is expected to use the power of the United States to create agreements for stimulating world trade.

Unemployment—A civilian conservation corps has been created to provide work for 250,000 men in the national forests. A draft for a national public works program on a gigantic scale has been prepared. Moves are on foot to create a new relationship between government and business, to lift anti-trust law provisions to permit industrial expansion and eliminate needless waste that comes from cut-throat competition.

National Defense—Cuts in army and navy appropriations will total approximately $146,000,000. Final decision on military expenditures will depend on agreements made with other powers.

Banking—Following the national banking holiday, the president took the United States off the gold standard by forbidding shipment of gold abroad, refusing to pay U. S. obligations in gold, and by making the hoarding of gold or gold certificates a major felony. Plans are now on foot for legislation to guarantee payment of deposits in solvent banks.

Foreign Policy—The United States will stand firmly for international peace; will refuse to recognize territory taken by aggression; will pursue a policy of "the good neighbor" in international relations.

Currency—The Democratic platform called for a sound currency. But the inflation rider to the farm bill permits the president to issue new money as he believes it is needed to carry out the program. It is affirmed that Mr. Roosevelt will not use this unprecedented power unless, in his opinion, no other avenues are left.

It is obvious that the success of any administration depends on the support of congress and the friendliness of the general public. So far, Mr. Roosevelt has had both—indeed, congress has been completely supine to his demands. Recently the first signs of organized opposition appeared. As yet this opposition has been powerless in confronting the White House influence, and the president is easily assured of desired support.

The president made his first public statement on world peace a short time ago. It was a diplomatic sensation, without advance publicity, as it would be expected. But of the speech was plainly addressed to Germany—which means in these days, to Chancellor Hitler. Mr. Roosevelt asked the nations to give up all offensive weapons, and to keep only those vital to defense. He denounced foreign invasion, at a time when Japan is ap-

TINKHAM TO ASK FOR DAVIS PROBE

MASSACHUSETTS REPRESENTATIVE SUSPECTS OF ENVOY'S RELATIONS WITH MORGAN.

Washington, May 28.—Launching a demand for a congressional investigation of the business relations of Norman H. Davis, Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, today charged in a statement that President Roosevelt's ambassador-at-large "has been under personal obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan & Company, the fiscal agent of the British government."

The Massachusetts Republican asserted he would introduce a resolution to demand a conference with the investigation as a result of testimony in the senate banking committee's investigation of the House of Morgan.

"Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American delegation to the general disarmament conference with the personal rank of ambassador, and member of the organizing committee of the economic conference now to be held in London," Tinkham asserted, "has just announced in Europe that the United States shall no longer be an independent nation and exercise such sovereignty as belongs to a nation. He has officially proposed the termination of American neutrality, the curtailment of American freedom of the seas, and the assurance of American coercive action to enforce the League of Nations."

Article which guarantees the present political boundaries of the world. He has announced that European nations are to be allowed to supervise American defense in the setting up of Geneva of a bureau for the supervision of arms.

"The same objectives have long been sought by American international banking and international business interests. It therefore becomes of the utmost importance to know what relations Mr. Davis now has or has had with any of these organizations."

Tinkham then referred to disclosures before the banking committee in his Morgan inquiry that Davis was on the list of favored customers and guests of the Morgan family.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—Cane carrying, once the vogue of the so-called smart set in Atlanta, has gone into the discard.

A few staves in Atlanta display the canes in show windows, but only for show purposes, at least that may be surmised since one may travel a five-long day on any city street or highway in Georgia and never once come across a man carrying a cane—or a cane carrying a man.

It would be about as odd a sight in Georgia now to find a gallant gentleman sporting a cane, a double-breasted frock coat, rounded cuffs and a top-coat whiskers, as it would be to see a Georgian sitting down to dine on spinach twigs. In other words such a man would be classed as loco.

parently determined to take all it can of China. He denounced all "petty" nationalism as a crime when a spirit of nationalism is gripping European powers.

Next day Chancellor Hitler made a speech, agreed with Mr. Roosevelt, but again said that unless Germany were permitted to re-arm, and the provisions of the Versailles Treaty were abrogated, she would resign from the League of Nations. His tone, however, was much more conciliatory than was expected. It was apparent that the European powers were looking to America to lead the fight for world disarmament, a revival of trust between peoples, and a permanent peace.

FOREST OWNERS TO MEET AT BROOKLET

Brooklet, Ga., May 31.—A most important meeting of all forest owners of Bulloch county has been called for Friday night, June 2nd, in the new school auditorium at Brooklet. The meeting will be opened at 8:30 o'clock.

The object of this meeting is to get every acre of forest in this county under contract before the government forestry camp that was given Bulloch is established.

The people of this county are elated over the fact that a government forestry camp has been assigned to Bulloch. The establishment is to be made within a few weeks. This camp is composed of a large number of men employed by the government to do business in the county to make complete plans and actually scrutinize Bulloch's forests to protect the young growth as well as the older trees.

The type of work will be to thin the crowded places, cut undergrowth, make secure fire breaks and set out young trees.

Bulloch is indeed fortunate in being able to have this government camp within its borders. This was made possible because of the Protective Fire Association that was organized here through the vocational department of the school. The camps are only given to counties where there is a fire protection has been established.

All forest acreage within this school district is already under contract and it is the object of the meeting Friday night to get every acre of forest in the county under contract. This is absolutely without a penny cost and is a rare opportunity to get the forests of the county worked free.

The invitation Friday night is urgent for the whole county if Bulloch expects to get the benefit of such an offer.

Jack Thurman, of Savannah, the district forestry agent, and Judge LeRoy Cowart, of Statesboro, are expected to be present at this meeting and talk to the association.

The buses not only make use of the roads which have been built and paid for by the local taxpayers, but in some cases are rapidly assuming the "public-be-damned" attitude," he adds. Other state editors have made similar complaints against heavy freight trucks which are described as a menace to life and property.

Anyways, the worm can turn with out danger of going into a tail-spin.

To Change Merri-Gold Into Rooming House

Work was begun Monday on the conversion of the Merri-Gold into an apartment house, for which purpose it was originally planned. The building will afford facilities for housing fifteen or more students from the Teachers College.

Regular meetings have been held at the Baptist church, but with summer coming on and open weather, most of the meetings will be held in the open until the new scout camp is completed. Mr. Darby and Guy H. Wells, president of the Teachers College, are co-operating with the Scouts in building the camp on Lake Wells.

BANQUET FOR GRADS

The mothers of the graduating class gave a banquet Friday evening at the Woman's Club room in their honor. The high school teachers were also guests on this occasion. The class colors of pink and green were effectively carried out in decorating, roses, gladioli and ivy lending charm to the room. Green candleholders with pink tapers were placed at intervals on the long table, casting a soft glow over the room. Lovely corsages were given the ladies and boutonnieres the men.

Miss Sara Remington presented each guest with a little token of remembrance. Ralph Howard, president of the class, presided. After the dinner, which was served in three courses, the Ramblers played for dancing.

P-T. A. RECEPTION

The P-T. A. entertained the graduating class and high school teachers with a reception Monday evening after the graduation exercises at the home of Mrs. H. F. Hook on South Main street. The lower floor of the home was thrown together and beautifully decorated with the class colors of pink and green. Radiance roses and gladioli predominated in decorations. Mrs. Hook greeted the guests at the door and Mrs. Jesse O. Johnston presented them to the receiving line, which included Mrs. W. H. Blitch, Mrs. Grady K. Johnson, Mrs. Dew Groover, Mrs. C. P. Olliff and Mrs. B. H. Ramsey. In the dining room were Mrs. Arthur Turner, Mrs. Bruce Olliff, Mrs. Barney Averitt, Mrs. E. T. Newsome, Miss Mary Gray and Miss Grace Gray. Others assisting with the entertaining were Mrs. George Groover and Mrs. Inman Foy. On the plates, which were of pink glass, was pink and green cream with individual cakes matching, mints and a pink rose bud. One hundred guests were present. Late in the evening dancing was enjoyed. The Ramblers furnished the music for the occasion.

Presbyterian Church

Our church will unite with the college in their morning service next Sunday, at 11:30 o'clock. Rev. Louis C. Lamotte, of the Presbyterian Church of Waycross, will be the preacher and our people are very earnestly invited to attend this service. At the evening hour, 8:30, Rev. Lamotte will preach at the Presbyterian church and we are assured of an interested audience at that time.
